The Supreme Court in its judgment said every woman has a right to a safe workplace. The court gave directives for all employers/organizations making it mandatory to institute sexual harassment complaints committees at workplaces. The judgment also created sexual harassment prevention guidelines for the workplace. The sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act 2013 has replaced the guidelines/norms laid down by Hon' able Supreme Court on sexual harassment and came into force from 9 December 2013. The Govt. of India is yet to make rules for carrying out the provisions of this Act, 2013. - Investigating every formal written complaint of sexual harassment
- Taking appropriate remedial measures to respond to any substantiated allegations of sexual harassment
- Discouraging and preventing employment-related sexual harassment

The Anti-Sexual harassment Committee shall inquire into the complaints as per the provisions of Section 11 of the Act, 2013. During pendency of inquiries the Committee may give recommendations as may be considered necessary under the provision of Section 12 of the Act, 2013 and based on these recommendations, the Competent Authority shall take appropriate action.

Prevention prohibition and redressal act 2013 of sexual harassment of women at workplaces
This Act was published in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, Part II, Section -1 dated 23rd April 2013 as Act No. 14 of 2013. Safe work place is woman's legal right and sexual harassment is defined as any unwelcome, sexually determined physical verbal or non verbal conduct. Work place is defined as any place visited by the employee out of or during the course of employment including transportation.

Policy of the Institute:

The policy of the Institute is to create and maintain an environment free from sexual harassment in the Institute. The Institute strongly disapproves of any conduct that constitutes sexual harassment. All students, faculty, and staff members are advised to report any matter related to sexual harassment to the Committee against Sexual Harassment. All complaints will be thoroughly investigated and appropriate action will be taken promptly. The Committee will maintain confidentiality within the limits of the law and will not disclose sensitive information to any individual except for those who have a specific need to know.

Organizations today are increasingly striving to achieve gender diversity and cultural inclusiveness. There is an equal focus on creating safer work environments for all genders. However, the stark reality of sexual harassment faced by women at the workplace for generations cannot be denied. The silver lining though is that incidents of sexual harassment are increasingly getting reported, both globally as well as in India. Last year, the #MeToo movement brought forward many such cases. Be it allegations against Google of payment of a total of USD 135 million (Rs.10,05,55,49,250/-) to 2 employees after they were accused of sexual harassment at the company, Indian companies reported more cases of sexual harassment in FY 2019 compared to a year earlier. Data from BSE 100 companies showed a 14% increase in reports of sexual harassment complaints in FY 2019. The Supreme Court of India laid down the guidelines for prevention of sexual harassment at workplace in the case of Vishakha & Ors. V/S State of Rajasthan in the year 1997. Encompassing those principles, 6 years ago, the Government promulgated Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 (the POSH Act) and the rules there under. POSH Act seeks to prevent and protect women from sexual harassment at workplace.

An Act to provide protection against sexual harassment against women at workplace and for the prevention and redressal of complaints of sexual harassment and for matters connected there with or incidental thereto. The Act has adopted a three pronged approach –

- Protecting women against sexual harassment at workplace;
- Preventing instances of sexual harassment at work place; and
- Providing redressal of complaints of sexual harassment at workplace.

The Act applies to all women in all workplaces. Section 2(f) defines an employee as a woman "employed at a workplace for any work. Any place where working relationship and/or employer-employee relationship between the company and the person exists. This includes our premises including transit houses & guest houses) and any place visited by the employee arising out of or during the course of employment including transportation provided by the employer for undertaking such a journey.

It is the duty of the employer to provide a safe working environment at the workplace which shall include safety from the persons coming into contact at the workplace. Every employer with 10 or more employees is required to have an internal committee in place to deal with the complaints of sexual harassment. In order for a woman to claim protection under the POSH Act, the incident of sexual harassment should have taken place at the 'workplace'. The definition of 'workplace' extends to 'any place visited by the employee arising out of or during the course of employment'. This could mean office off sites, office parties, work conferences attended by female employees. Sexual harassment need not be physical or verbal in nature, it could be non-verbal conduct of sexual nature, such as forwarding inappropriate content on WhatsApp, or displaying inappropriate content on the screensaver of the laptop. Every employer is required to treat sexual harassment as a misconduct under the service rules and initiate action for such misconduct. The aggrieved woman can choose to file a complaint under the Indian Penal Code, 1860 and the employer should assist the woman in filing such a complaint.

Sometimes, POSH Act is even considered biased in favor of women. However, the POSH Act provides enough safeguards to ensure that the internal committee follows the principles of natural justice and if a malicious complaint is made or false evidence is produced by the complainant, an appropriate action is taken against such complainant Act should be used as Shield and not a sword.
